Visit IAI sponsor booths for a free infographic on using interviewing skills in poker as well as the chance to win CFI scholarships, Elite Training Day registrations and IAI memberships

CHICAGO, April 29, 2015 – The International Association of Interviewers (IAI) teaches interviewers how to win at poker with a free infographic at this year's Retail Asset Protection conference, May 3-6, hosted by the Retail Industry Leaders Association (RILA).

The infographic, "Know When to Hold'em or Fold'em" shows how interview experts can take their expertise in interviewing and apply it to reading the behavior of opponents sitting around the poker table.

IAI has teamed up with valuable partners at the RILA conference in Orlando to help its members achieve professional success. "Dynamic industry leaders form an elite group that currently participate in our sponsorship program," says IAI Executive Director Wayne Hoover, CFI.

IAI is committed to providing access to the valuable tools needed by those dedicated to the art of investigation. Chances to win a Certified Forensic Interviewer (CFI) scholarship, an Elite Training Day registration and an International Association of Interviewers (IAI) membership while picking up the free "Know When to Hold'em or Fold'em" infographic are all reasons to stop by the following sponsor booths:
